Dutch government bans phones in schools

The Dutch government says that students cannot use mobile phones, tablets, or smartwatches in classrooms. This rule starts from 1 January 2024.

This rule will help students focus. But they can still use these devices if they really need to. For example, for digital skills lessons or medical reasons. The Education Minister, Robbert Dijkgraaf, says that mobile phones are not good for classrooms. They disturb students. Research shows this.

The ban is an agreement between the government, schools, and other groups. Schools can decide how to do the ban.

The true cost of food

Penny is a supermarket. It sells cheap food. Penny in Germany wants people to pay more money for food.

People must understand the true cost of food. Cheap food has a bad impact on the natural world. Germans spend only 11.1% of their money on food. It is less than people in the EU usually pay. Penny will charge more money for some products. The extra money will go to help farming. Penny expects fewer sales because of higher prices and inflation.

World's hottest week

Climate change is a big problem. And it is getting worse. The United Nations says that the weather is changing a lot. It is causing a lot of trouble.

Last week is the hottest ever. The whole world is very hot.

The United States and China have very hot weather right now. Even Antarctica is warming up. This is not good for the animals that live there. Diseases can spread more easily. We need to do something to stop climate change and protect our planet.

The Titan accident

The Titan is a submersible. It explores the Titanic. Last week, the Titan breaks near the Titanic. It implodes. It means that it collapses with great force.

Five people are on board. They all die. The Coast Guard finds two areas with broken parts of the submersible. It is the front part and a closed space with air pressure. Rescuers hear strange noises earlier. The breaking has nothing to do with the noises.

The families thank the rescuers. We don't know if rescuers can get the bodies out. The company which operates the submersible can face problems with the law.

Very old pizza

Experts find an interesting painting in Pompeii, Italy. The painting shows bread with fruits. They believe that the painting is pizza.

Experts are surprised. The bread has something that looks like a pineapple. But Europeans know the fruit much later. The bread had spices or cheese on it. The painting represents gifts for guests. People in Greece give gifts to guests.

The director of Pompeii's Park believes that the bread is pizza. People still argue about putting fruit on pizza.

Warsaw old street

✓ ⑧

Workers are building a new square in Warsaw, Poland. The square will have plants. It will look modern. But it will remember the old times, too.

A tall building, the Palace of Culture, is near the square. A leader named Joseph Stalin gives it to the city. Many houses are there in the past. But they get destroyed during World War II. Builders find old streets in the ground. The new square will look like the old streets. Builders find bases of old buildings with stones and tracks for trams. Now, people have a chance to see the old streets.

China's slowing economy

China is having economic problems. The United States and some other countries think that this will make the West stronger than China. Officials from Washington, Rome, Tokyo, and other places talk to reporters. But they do not want to give their names. They say that the main story about how money moves around the world is changing very fast.

Before, it seems like China will become the world's top economic power and that the United States will not be strong anymore. But now things are not so sure. In Washington and other places, people are thinking about how to deal with China.
